Board Approves Second Sewer Rate Hike

By Frank Messina

The Board of Selectmen approved a 10 percent sewer rate hike Monday night, the second such increase since May.

When a North Andover waste incinerator was closed for repairs June 29, hauling the sludge to dump sites caused disposal costs to skyrocket, Town Manager Kenneth Mahony told the selectmen.

Although the selectmen passed the increase with little discussion and much reluctance, Mahony said afterwards the town has few options. "Typically, some of the other communities will wait until the bill comes then wonder where to get the funding," he said. "We will have the money in hand."

On top of a 15 percent increase approved in May, the latest increase will amount to about 14 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of waste, Mahony said. The tax bill for the combined 25 percent increase will be due in March, 1989.

A member of the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District, Andover will pay about 18-20 percent of the total bill for the district. Estimates for GLSD disposal costs for the coming year range from $1.4 to $4.5 million.

Currently, the GLSD transports some 160 tons of waste sludge daily to Fall River, about 50 miles south of Andover, at a cost of $87 per ton, said Donald George, GLSD executive director.

George said the district plans to bring the incinerator up to state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering standards, but could not estimate how long renovations will take. GLSD towns and cities should plan on hauling refuse for at least a year, he said.

Last spring, the GLSD discovered DEQE officials had decided to re-

TOWN HOUSE TOPICS

Tot Lot Committee Plans Agenda

The Tot Lot Committee (TLC) recently held an organizational meeting at the home of Lois Karfunkel in Andover. Among the issues discussed were the need for a tot lot, a playground appropriately scaled for toddlers and preschoolers that is available all day; the size of the potential user population as determined from child care surveys, town census and other available data; how other communities have developed tot lots and whether these playgrounds were built on donated land, whether town or privately-raised funds were used for construction and what type of equipment was utilized; the potential location on town or school property (several town-owned sites were suggested); type of equipment available; fundraising projects; and the construction of an indoor as well as outdoor playground. While the notion of an indoor playground is attractive, particularly during bad weather, the group decided to pursue only an outdoor space at this time.

The TLC will meet Thursday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Peggy Coleman, 58 Red Spring Road. For further information, call Coleman or Karfunkel.

Glass Collection Set For Saturday

Andover Recycling Inc. will hold its monthly glass collection at the parking lot to the north of Town Hall Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Volunteers will be there to assist. Clear, green and brown glass will be collected.

Utility Excavations OK'd

The Board of Selectmen approved a request from Bay State Gas Co. Monday night to excavate along several town roads to install new gas service.

Streets where the roadwork will take place include: 16 Harvard Road, 18 feet of road excavated; 181 High Plain Road, 20 feet; 71 Tewksbury St., three feet; 44 Old County Road, six feet; the new post office at Stevens Road, 50 feet.

The gas company also received permission from selectmen to dig holes in Farrwood Drive and Morton Street to cut off telemeters and got the go-ahead to excavate about 690 feet from Chandler Circle through Farnham Circle to install a new gas main.

Of course, Spectrum 2 delivers superior sensitivity that conclusively detects police radar on the straightaways, over hills and even around curves. ## Named Interim Provost At UMass

Prof. Leverett J. Zompa of Kathleen Drive, Andover, has been named interim provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs for the 1988-89 academic year by UMass/Boston Chancellor Sherry H. Penney.

"We are very fortunate to be able to call upon Dr. Zompa, currently a professor of chemistry, to serve as provost," said Penney. "He is well regarded in the academic community and I know that with his talent and energy it will be an extremely productive and effective year for the academic affairs office."

"I am enormously grateful to him for being willing to serve in this interim appointment. Within a few weeks a search committee will be formed. I am hopeful that the new provost will assume office by June 1989."

A graduate of Merrimack College, Zompa received a master's degree from the College of the Holy Cross in 1960 and a Ph.D. from Boston College in 1964. He is a senior member of the chemistry department, having joined the university in 1966. Zompa served as chairman of the chemistry department and director of the graduate program in chemistry.

LWV Invites Potential Members

The Andover League of Women Voters invites Andover residents interested in joining the league to an information meeting at Memorial Hall Library on Thursday, Sept. 29, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

This important election year is an ideal time to begin membership in the League of Women Voters, probably best known for voter services at election time, non-partisan sponsorship of candidate debates and, the "Know Your Town" booklet the Andover LWV prepares for new residents. The league's purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation in government and to act on elected governmental issues.

Membership offers a congenial association with others interested in learning about their town and its government, studying issues and reaching decisions together on local, state and national priority issues of the league. The 1988-89 local agenda includes town-wide school-aged child care, women's issues, several education issues and a new edition of "Know Your Town." The Andover League will hold a membership brunch in October to welcome those who become members.

Andover Residents Chairmen

Emmy-award winning WCVB-TV reporter Susan Wornick is the featured speaker at the New England Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's annual membership luncheon Thursday, Sept. 29, at 11 a.m. at the Stoneham hospital.

"The membership drive is being held to attract new members to the auxiliary," said Diana Gould, auxiliary president. "Prospective members are invited to the luncheon to find out what the auxiliary has to offer. Our members operate the hospital gift shop, work on fund-raising activities for the benefit of the hospital and volunteer their time to spend with patients."

The luncheon is free of charge. It was organized by co-chairpersons Susan Dixon and Lorraine Mercer, both of Andover. To register, call the hospital.

Wornick has been a news reporter at WCVB-TV since 1981. She frequently serves as a substitute host of Channel 5's "Good Day!" program and substitute news anchor. ## Exploring Maine As Student Chris Frothingham, a freshman from Andover, started his college career at Colby by joining more than 300 classmates on a week-long trek through Maine as part of COOT, the Colby Outdoor Orientation Trip.

COOT, which is designed to introduce incoming students to Maine, Colby and one another, allows groups of 10 freshmen to explore Maine, guided by two experienced student leaders and a member of Colby's faculty or staff. Students choose from among trips for experienced campers, such as a 30-mile hike over a portion of the Appalachian Trail, or those designed for neophytes, such as an exploration of FDR's beloved Campobello Island. Other trips focus on special activities like canoeing, biking, horseback riding and fishing.

Chris, son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Frothingham of 88 Wildwood Road, was on the offshore island expedition, a backpack adventure in Acadia National Park and Bar Harbor on Mount Desert Island.

Now in its 15th year, COOT has made the transition from innovation to tradition at Colby, a highly selective liberal arts college with 1,700 undergraduates and a faculty of 160 scholars. The activities that augment the school's rigorous curriculum are a month of independent work each January; interdisciplinary seminars for freshmen; semesters of foreign study on campuses in France, Germany, Ireland, Spain, Mexico or the Far East.

Cemetery Tour On Weekend

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The ghosts of Andover's past will come to life on a walking tour of three of the town's historic cemeteries on Saturday, Sept. 24, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Sponsored by the Andover Historical Society and led by curator of education Barbara Thibault, the group will meet at the society's 97 Main St. headquarters, the Amos Blanchard House, to view a slide introduction to Andover's ancient burying grounds. Participants will then tour the cemeteries at Christ Church, South Church and Phillips Academy, guided by members of the society's preservation committee. The event is open to the public. There is a small admission fee. Registration can be made by calling the society or in person the morning of the tour. Raindate is October 15.

Full of folk art and poetry as well as valuable historic information, the old burying grounds of Andover tell the story of the people who lived here. Some, like Harriet Beecher Stowe, achieved world renown. Others were locally prominent, like Capt. Benjamin Ames, who led Andover's minutemen into battle at Bunker Hill. The majority were like most of us, goodwife and deacon, farmer and banker, teacher and shopkeeper, whose stories have knit together to form the fabric of this community for more than 300 years.

An early gravestone marks the burying place of Ann Blanchard, who died in 1723. Although the town was founded in 1646, most burials took place at Andover's first church, the North Parish Meeting House, now North Andover. Even there, however, there are few first-period gravesites. Scholars theorize that early grave markers may have been made of wood, explaining why they no longer exist.

Eighteenth-century gravestones represent the high point of gravestones as folk art. Death's heads of fearsome aspect slowly evolved into less threatening winged souls, perhaps mirroring theological changes occurring in New England. A host of other images adorn these early stones—hourglasses, clocks, skeletons. The weeping willow motif is more Victorian in feeling and usually dates to the early 19th century.

an in feeling and usually dates to the early 19th century.

Nothing is more interesting than the epitaphs carved on these old gravestones. Tour participants will enjoy deciphering the bits of verse, names, dates and family lore. One early American favorite reads: "Stranger, know as you pass by, as you are now, so once was I." Such grave sentiments passed on with the decline of the Puritans in the early 1800s and the optimism and material achievements of the Victorian era are reflected in their often massive and elaborate gravestones and mausoleums. The slide show and walking tour will introduce participants to gravestone art as well as the history of Andover's people.

The first known sewing needles were made of bone and are over 30,000 years old.

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 22, 1988

38 Teachers Join Andover Schools

Kindergarteners aren't the only ones new to the Andover school system. There are also many new teachers joining the faculty.

Thirty eight have joined the total teaching staff of 350.

"The turnover is somewhat higher than last year," said Mary Lyman, school personnel director.

Several factors contributed to the turnover rate, which is about 10 percent, Lyman said. Eight new positions were created due to the reorganization of the schools and the growing number of students in the elementary schools.

Staff relocation, an increase in the number of retirements, requested leave of absences and career changes have also contributed to the turnover, she said.

A 10-percent increase is the estimated turnover rate for the next five years, said Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kenneth Seifert.

Here are the new school employees.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

While babies differ a good deal in how much they cry, and how easy it is to soothe them, a few soothing methods seem to work well for most babies. Whenever your baby is not screaming from pain, the first thing to think of is hunger, especially during the first few months. Even when he or she is not ready for an entire meal, a snack might work wonders. Even the youngest baby will often cry for lack of company. Try putting your baby to your shoulder and walk around slowly, cuddling him in that position. Cuddling while rocking in a rickety chair is a very effective method of soothing.

Law School Opens In Town Today

The Massachusetts School of Law at Andover will officially open at an inaugural reception today in Dundee Park. Rep. Susan Tucker, Board of Selectmen Chairman William Downs, School Committeeman Susan Poore (an MSLA student) and Leo Daley will serve as co-hosts of the reception.

The school began serving the Merrimack Valley, North Shore and southern New Hampshire in August. A full-time and part-time program has been implemented for day and evening students. Courses offered for first-year, first-semester students include Civil Procedure, Property, Research and Writing I and Criminal Law. First-year, second-semester students study Contracts, Torts, Research and Writing II and Criminal Procedure. The school's staff says many second- and third-year law students have transferred to the school.

The MSLA faculty includes a full-time dean, three full-time professors and part-time and adjunct professors. An independent board of trustees has been established.

The Massachusetts School of Law has more than 20,000 square feet of space in a renovated mill. A well stocked library, open 95 hours a week, has been established for student study and research.

While offering the traditional law school education, according to a statement from the school, the Massachusetts School of Law has instituted several innovations to better prepare its graduates for the realities of the legal world. MSLA will offer its students an opportunity to major in specific fields.

"All undergraduate and most graduate schools have fields of concentrations," says dean Lawrence R. Velvel.

"By allowing law students to major in a specific field, we are preparing these students to deal with the legal world in a practical manner. Instead of graduating as 'jacks-of-all-trades and masters of none,' our graduates will have the ability

School Guild Begins Year

The St. Augustine's Parents Guild began the new school year with a wine and cheese party for parents new to the school. Sister Kathleen Leary presented a slide presentation of the children at school activities.

The guild sponsored a welcoming morning coffee for all parents on Thursday, the opening day of school.

The guild will sell gift wrap and wrapping accessories as a fund-raiser. The proceeds will go towards furnishing the newly moved library.

Other guild-sponsored events include family skates at Roll-On America, a harvest cocktail party, annual Halloween party and a communion breakfast in November. The Christmas craft fair will be Dec. 3 with craftspeople from New England and the selling of Christmas greens, gingerbread houses and children's room.

Scientists estimate that as many as 200,000,000 meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day. These and other meteorites are estimated to add more than 1,000 tons daily to the earth's weight.

St. Robert's Students Start School

School bells rang the week of Sept. 12 to welcome students of St. Robert's Country Day School back to another year of pre-school.

The school begins its 19th year of providing programs to children from Andover, Tewksbury, Lowell, Lawrence, Reading, Dracut and Pelham, N.H.

St. Robert's offers several programs: mini nursery, a two-day-a-week program for children who will be 3 by Aug. 31 of the school year; regular nursery, a three-day-a-week program for 4-year-olds; regular/enrichment, a regular nursery program with an extended day; and maxi nursery, a program for older children who miss the kindergarten cutoff date or who would benefit from an additional year of "growing time."

Helen Keegan, the school's education director since 1970, is enthusiastic about activities planned for the school year. Traditional "fall fun" will include apple picking, a farm visit, Thanksgiving celebrations and a demonstration of native American culture. New projects in the art, music, creative movement, science and cooking areas are also planned.

The staff has been expanding the school's solid curriculum by brainstorming during team meetings throughout the summer. They have developed new activities and schedules that will help students be-

Invitation To Join Recyclers

By Virginia Cole

For lots of us September is the beginning of a new year. It is even a time for resolutions as well as new beginnings in many areas of our lives. Maybe this is the time for you to become an active member of Andover Recycling Inc.

Andover Recycling is a private non-profit corporation whose purpose is to run Andover's recycling programs and promote recycling of all kinds. We hire the contractor who picks up newspapers, magazines, junk mail and folded cardboard every other week on your trash day. And we do get the glass collection bin down in the parking lot near Town Offices once a month (this month it will be Sept. 24 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.).

We sell the newspaper collected and with that money and a subsidy from the town, pay the contractor. The town contributes because it is still cheaper per ton of waste than to truck that amount to the incinerator. We serve two purposes: improving the environment and saving tax money.

We lobbied to have permissive legislation for mandatory recycling passed at Town Meeting and are ready to ask that it be enforced as soon as better markets for recycled goods can be found.

I'm sure there are those who believe in recycling or are just beginning to realize how necessary it is to think of more and better ways to recycle. We need you. We need to do more and we need more of you to help do it. We need more aggressive publicity, more citizens to recycle, more pressure to get town cooperation; particularly in the area of glass recycling; more education programs for the next generation. We need more brains working on this subject. We need more lobbyists for less packaging and, therefore, less trash. We need more hands for stuffing recycling calendars into the tax bills. We need more arms and legs to help dump glass at the glass bin. We need more volunteers for regional meetings to pass along what we have learned and to bring back what has helped other communities. We need more letter writers to help push legislation in all the areas of trash reduction, trash disposal, recycling centers, recycling ordinances. We need ideas for recycled products that will provide markets for recyclables. We need networking with other towns, other states, other countries. We need you!

It is easy to become one of us. There are no dues, no proscribed duties, no loyalty oath. A willingness to help anywhere is enough. A monthly meeting is held on the third Tuesday of the month, usually at 12:30 p.m. You are welcome. Call Tina Girdwood, Andover Recycling president, or me.

New Group

Plans are underway to form an organization to explore the many theories involved in the current worldwide emergence of metaphysics as an educational, healing and spiritual movement.

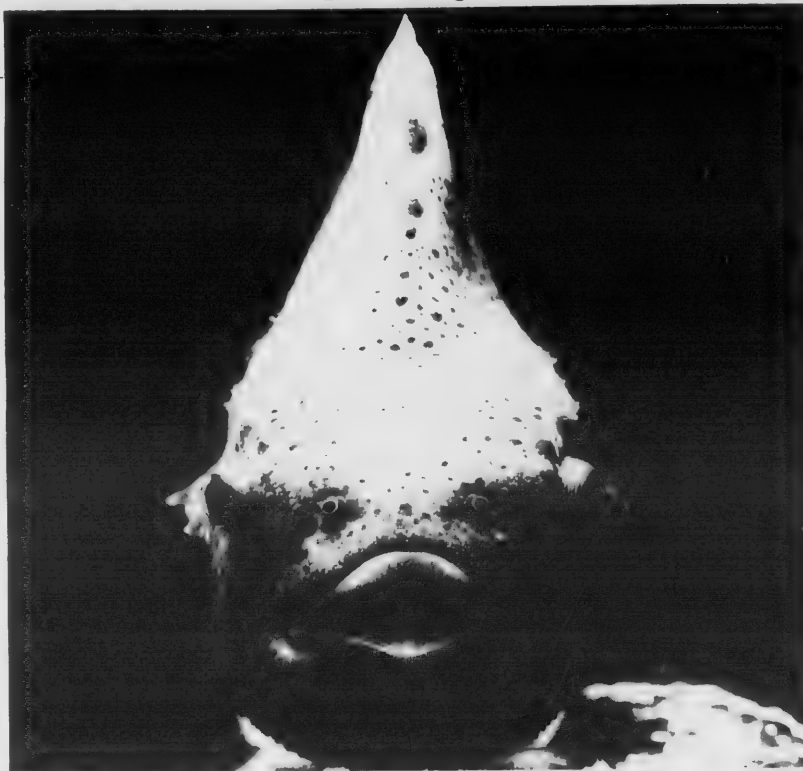

The new association, yet to be named, will present monthly meetings on such subjects as holistic health, exploring strategies to effect change, crystals and gems and channeling.

Those interested in contributing to the formation of this organization or being placed on its mailing list should contact Suzanne Adams, 173 Campbell Road, North Andover.

Some Faces Are Unforgettable.

Especially this one! Would you like to meet a lumpfish close up? Learn about the plant and marine life of New Hampshire's coastline? Or walk on a nature trail through a salt marsh?

Then pay us a visit. At Seabrook Station's Energy Education Center you'll come face to face with nature.

See native marine life in our aquariums. Explore the ecology of our coastline. Experience wildlife on our mile-long nature trail. Take an animated elevator ride deep below Hampton Harbor's Salt Marsh.

Also discover how nuclear power is generated from "talking" exhibits and see how electricity gets to your home. Pedal an energy bicycle and light up a bulb. Watch station operators train on our control room simulator. (It's an exact duplicate of the real thing.) And take a guided bus tour that includes a close-up look at our nuclear reactor building.

Visit our Education Center soon. We're open Tuesday through Saturday 10 AM - 4 PM. Admission is free. The thrill of seeing nature close up is priceless.

Bank Employees In Challenge

Two hundred Andover Bank employees gathered at the Andover Country Club on Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, for the final round of the Andover Bank "Know It All Challenge."

The final round, known as the "Super Know It All Challenge," was the conclusion to a summer-long training program that increased the employees' banking knowledge. The two final teams faced fierce competition from 13 other departments and branches throughout the bank.

The finalists were Little Old Broadway (a team from the Route 28, Methuen office) and the Rocking Retailers (a team made up of individuals from branch administration). They faced each other in a tough competitive game modelled after Family Feud and Jeopardy. The game was hosted by Jordan Rich, morning radio personality from WSSH (99.5 FM).

The teams answered questions about Andover Bank's products, general information and quality service mission. The Rocking Retailers defeated Little Old Broadway.

Each member of the teams received a gold medal. The losing team received a consolation prize of boxes of Rice-a-Roni. The winning team received a $1,000 check to share and each member received a day-off certificate.

Andover Bank is a Massachusetts chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. The bank also operates branch banking offices in West Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury. Andover Bank currently has assets in excess of $600 million.

Matt Lauer

Delores Handy and Matt Lauer of WNEV-Channel 7 will be the guest hosts of Vision House's fall fund-raiser dinner dance at the Andover Marriott on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m.

Vision House provides services for head-injured residents of Merrimack Valley after their medical treatment stops. Staff members say the 5-year-old organization's goal is to purchase or build a facility that will be a central location for the psychological and physical care of post-accident head-injured people, most of whom are teenagers and young adults.

Carrol Stephens, a member of Vision House's board and co-owner of Imagine That Florist, said the group hopes to raise $20,000. The Stevens Foundation in North Andover has promised Vision House $1 for every $2 it raises up to $10,000, according to Stephens.

She says the Marriott dinner dance is the first event of its kind Vision House has organized.

Fund-raiser co-host Handy, The New England News weekend anchor, won an Emmy and a "journalist of the year" award. She also works for PBS and hosts a public affairs program, and she is involved with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Urban League.

With Handy at the Vision House fund-raiser will be Lauer, host of Talk of the Town, a morning talk show that airs controversial social issues. He has had experience on news magazines (P.M. Magazine) and as host of news and variety programs throughout the country.

Other area newsmen have been invited to the fund-raiser. Susan Darwin of WZOU and Dean James of WBOZ will co-host (Continued on Page 28)

Emergency Appeal for Blood Donors

The American Red Cross is appealing to eligible members of the community to donate blood as soon as possible to alleviate a very serious shortage.

According to Mark A. Popovsky, M.D., medical director of the American Red Cross Blood Services - Northeast Region, "The blood supply in our region, which serves all of Massachusetts and Maine, has been at or below a critical level for several months. At this time the demand for blood to treat hospital patients is high and cannot be met unless the public comes forward."

Popovsky stressed, "Blood can only come from people—it cannot be manufactured. It is easy to take the blood supply for granted, but those who have needed blood at one time or another know just how precious that resource is."

He described the critical level as a point at which hospitals no longer have in reserve an adequate supply of blood to meet transfusion needs. Hospitals might have to consider postponing elective surgery when blood supplies become as low as they are now.

The Red Cross collects approximately 1,200 units of blood each day to meet transfusion needs in the northeast region. "We need 3,000 additional blood donations this week above and beyond the normal daily goal to replenish the blood supply," Popovsky explained.

"The Red Cross maintains a reserve supply of blood for emergency situations. We are presently dipping into that supply to meet day-to-day needs for blood, which is a highly unusual situation.

"We are calling upon those who donate blood on a regular basis and those who have never donated blood before to call the Red Cross and schedule a donation appointment this week," he said. "While all blood types are in short supply, there is a particular need for group O blood as this is the type most commonly transfused in an emergency situation."

To be eligible to donate blood one must be in good health; at least 18 years old (17 with a signed American Red Cross parental/guardian consent form); weigh at least 110 pounds; have no history of hepatitis or of exposure to the AIDS virus; and not be in a risk group for AIDS.

The local blood center is in Methuen.

Designers Present Prize

Felix Vickers, New England sales representative for Kaspar & Esh, a jewelry firm, gives Paula Leed-Aron of Royal Jewelers, Plus... an award for two essays she wrote. Leed-Aron's essays were about the methods she used to sell a design worth more than $2,000.

When store owner Paula Leed-Aron sold a piece of jewelry to a customer, the designers gave her a prize.

Of course, it was no ordinary jewelry. The Kaspar & Esh design, worth more than $2,000, featured eight carats of diamonds in all different shapes and sizes.

Leed-Aron, co-owner of Royal Jewelers, Plus... in downtown Lawrence, wrote two essays on how she sold the piece. She was named one of six winners nationwide in the contest the Long Island, N.Y., company sponsored.

"The bottom line was that I was very well-versed and knew what I was talking about," Leed-Aron said.

The company gave Leed-Aron two solid 14-karat gold pins inset with diamonds—one for her and one for her mother. She co-owns Royal Jewelers with her mother and brother, Sel and Steve Leed.

Most artists brought their equipment with them, ready to create on-the-spot artwork.

'Nutcracker' Auditions Scheduled

One hundred and eighty children will be selected for roles in Tchiakovsky's "Nutcracker" to be staged by the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre at the Collins Center for the Performing Arts, Andover, for six performances Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

Dana Arey, ballet master of the Pittsburgh Ballet, will conduct children's auditions at the Collins Center, Shawsheen Road, on Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Children must have at least one year of dance training and be available for rehearsal and performance dates. Parents must accompany children.

Children four feet up to five feet in height will be auditioned at 4:30 p.m.; children five feet all and above will be auditioned at 7:30 p.m. Girls should wear pink tights, black leotard and ballet shoes; boys should wear black tights, a white t-shirt and ballet shoes.

The Pittsburgh Ballet production of the "Nutcracker" is based on the original choreography of George Balanchine and uses children in the party scene of Act I as soldiers, angels and in other roles.

The annual production at the Collins Center is made possible in part through a major grant from Ellen's School of Dance, Billerica.

scind a 1979 decision that allowed the North Andover incinerator to operate under old air standards that were passed in 1975 while the GLSD facility was under construction.

By incinerating waste and dumping the ashes in local state-approved ash pits, the GLSD kept disposal bills down to about $10 per ton, George said.

The district might save money through the use of a new technology that combines waste materials with cement and silicone and turns it into environmentally safe landfill cover, George said.

The process, called naturite, was approved by the DEQE last week. The GLSD must still seek DEQE backing for a landfill site.

Philharmonic Begins Season

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra is gearing up for its 28th season.

Conductor and musical director George Monseur has again prepared a varied program of music for valley audiences to enjoy. Along with works for the orchestra, which now numbers more than 75 players, a group of guest artists will join the orchestra for their season of five concerts.

The first concert will be Nov. 6 at 2:30 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church, 120 Bellevue Avenue, Haverhill. Mu Phi Epsilon international contest winner Alan Chow will perform the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto Number One with the orchestra and the concert will conclude with Brahms' Second Symphony.

The annual Christmas concert at Sacred Heart Church, 321 South Broadway, Lawrence will feature seasonal works by Vivaldi, Handel, Torelli and Leroy Anderson and a special group of vocal works sung by soprano Terry Morgan and the church choir. The concert will also feature trumpeters Stanley Baptista and James Goodwin and there is always a holiday sing-along.

Sacred Heart Church will also host the two spring concerts. The concert on March 12 at 2:30 p.m. will present three varied works; the Jean Mouret Fanfares, made famous by PBS as the theme for

Masterpiece Theater; the moving Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis for string orchestra and string quartet by Ralph Vaughan Williams; and Berlioz's Symphony Fantastique. For the first time in some years, an organ will be used with the orchestra—Sacred Heart's French-style pipe organ.

The final concert of the subscription series will be May 21 at 2:30 p.m. The orchestra will present an orchestral transcription of Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor, Wagner's Prelude and Liebestod from Tristan and Isolde; and Beethoven's Symphony Number Seven.

Contact the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society, P.O. Box 512, Lawrence 01842 for ticket information.

The philharmonic receives funds from arts councils in eight Merrimack Valley communities as well as grants from numerous foundations and corporations in the area. Critics have called it one of the finest "civic orchestras" in New England.

For the fourth consecutive year, the philharmonic is offering an additional concert specifically for young children on April 8 at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts. This year's program will feature three young violinists playing works by Vivaldi and Bach, the Russian and Ludmilla Overture by Glinka, a Dvorak Slavonic Dance and a performance by Ballet New England.

Quilts On Exhibit

First quilts and recent works of prominent New England quilt makers will be at the New England Quilt Museum from Sept. 22 to Nov. 6.

"First Quilt/Last Quilt, New England" will also provide a look at how quilters view themselves, their artistic development and the quilted work they produce. The displays will cover the range of quilting and piecing techniques. The early works show the seldom-seen beginnings of their work and the progress they have made.

Located in the historic mill district of Lowell at 256 Market St., across from the Lowell State Heritage Park Visitors Center, the New England Quilt Museum has hosted a variety of quilt exhibits since its opening in 1987.

Museum hours are Tuesday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.; closed Sundays and major holidays.

Country Dance

Salem Country Dancers will meet at Grace Church Hall, 385 Essex St., Salem. Caller Sarah Gregory Smith and the Salem Country Orchestra will be on hand Sept. 30 and the second and fourth Fridays of the month through

Handicapped Buses Arrive

State Transportation Secretary Frederick P. Salvucci has announced the delivery of two new state-funded mini-buses to the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority, marking another milestone in the state's program to improve accessible transportation for senior and disabled citizens. The mini-buses were awarded under the state's Mobility Assistance Program.

"The arrival of these specially-equipped vehicles means greater access to jobs, education, community activities and medical services for the elderly and handicapped residents of the Merrimack Valley," said Salvucci. "Under Gov. Dukakis' leadership and through a host of new and expanded programs, we're working to make transportation accessible to every citizen in the Commonwealth."

"This commitment," he added, "in tandem with the efforts of the local non-profit agencies,

Parish Cruise

St. Augustine's Parish Community invites all interested persons to a "cruise night" on Sunday at 7 p.m. at St. Augustine's Good Counsel Hall, 43 Essex St. An audiovisual presentation on the cruise and ports of call, helpful literature, refreshments and door prizes will highlight the evening.

The parish plans to sail on Sitmar Cruise's Fairwind for seven nights departing March 4.

is making a real difference in the lives of many Massachusetts residents."

The MAP allocates funding to local non-profit organizations, both public and private, which provide transportation to the elderly and handicapped. During the current round of the program, $1.9 million in state and federal monies has been awarded to purchase wheelchair accessible vehicles as well as related equipment like mobile radio and computer systems. Sixty-four vehicles will be delivered to 31 agencies across the state this year.

Salvucci noted that vehicle awards have more than tripled over the past few years, thanks to strong legislative support, particularly from Sen. Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence), for increased MAP funding. He said that the $3 million allocated for the program in the 1988 Transportation Bond Issue will allow even further expansion.

Joe Costanzo, administrator of the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority, stressed the positive impact the new vehicles will have on service. "These 'wee-buses' will allow us to bring more elderly and handicapped people to medical and rehabilitation facilities. They also will provide greater freedom for many men and women living in the authority's service area," he said.

The Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority serves Amesbury, Andover, Boxford, Georgetown, Groveland, Haverhill, Lawrence, Merrimac, Methuen, Newbury, Newburyport, North Andover, Rowley and West Newbury.

Church Uses Survey Results To Find Out Why People Stay Home

Why do people stay home from church on Sunday? How could a church get people to attend?

If you were a businessman, you would probably approach that question like any other marketing problem. You'd do a survey.

That's exactly what businessmen William Watson and Warren Cormier did as they prepared to start BrookRidge Community Church, slated to open Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at West Elementary School.

Watson, formerly an AT&T manufacturing resources planning manager from North Andover, and Cormier, an Ipswich resident and president of the Boston Research Group, surveyed North Shore residents who don't attend church.

They learned that people stay home on Sunday because "the services are predictable and boring," "the church doesn't meet my needs," "I am unable to relate to the message and the music," "I am made to feel guilty."

They also found that 70 percent said they would attend a church that overcame these problems.

"After reading the responses it is clear most people feel that church is not saying anything that is relevant to them, that will make a difference in their real issues and struggles, and so they're not willing to make the effort to attend," Watson said.

Armed with that information and more, Watson and Cormier planned a new congregation modeled after the innovative WillowCreek Community Church in South Barrington, Ill., a church that grew to more than 12,000 attenders in just 11 years.

Drama and contemporary music will be featured at every service, according to Watson. "Our philosophy will be to use drama and the performing arts to more powerfully, relevantly and honestly present the message." The sermons will focus on the day-to-day concerns of a hypothetical businessperson and the family.

"The services must have high user value. When people attend they will be asking, 'What value does my being here have for my life?'" he said.

Watson brings not only management skills but experience as a pastor, church youth leader and Bible teacher. About two dozen volunteers, a professional theater consultant, music director and administrative secretary have added their diverse talents.

Will the WillowCreek model work in New England?

Watson will have a better idea some time after Sunday.

Apple Fest Coming Up

The annual apple homecoming festival at West Parish Church will be held Sunday. All West Parish families are welcome.

Outdoor games for children will begin at 4:30 p.m. The potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. will feature apples. All dishes for the supper should include apples. There will also be a contest to include best apple pie, best apple crisp and best apple cake. The evening will end with surprising entertainment.

Temple Emanuel Observes Sukot

Sukot is the holiday of ecology, according to the staff of Temple Emanuel of Andover. "Every symbol and message of the Sukot series of holidays cooperate to make the Jew conscious of nature and the world," they said.

Steeped in the agricultural origins of the Israeli people, Sukot represented the gathering of the autumnal harvest in biblical times. "As the Jewish people evolved from a nation of farmers to a nation of scholars and city-dwellers, the essential celebration of God's universe manifested itself increasingly in observances and rituals which reminded them of the world of nature," staffer said. "Thus, Sukot is a festival for moderns yearning to return to agricultural origins, yet prevented from doing so by the walls of advanced technology."

The symbol of Sukot is the thatched, flimsy hut build in commemoration, tradition says, of the rapidly built shelters required by desert wanderings. Philosophers Philo and Maimonides said the sukah, small hut, was to remind the comfortable, secure Jew of the misfortunes of those in poverty and want.

"The temporary quality of the sukah was to be a yearly reminder that security will not be found in what appears to be firm, but is really fleeting," temple staff said. "It lies in love of man and appreciation of God's universe."

Sukot Festival services will be held at Temple Emanuel on Haggetts Pond Road Sunday Sesvneing, Sept. 25, at 8:15 p.m. and Monday, Sept. 26, at 10:30 a.m.

Youth Groups Start

Ballard Vale United Church's junior and senior youth groups are starting a new year. The senior group met last night for pizza and ping pong. A regular meeting night and other dates will be planned.

On Saturday, the junior youth group will hold a "progressive afternoon" with a multitude of dinner courses, from salad to dessert, at the homes of several members. During the afternoon, the "Team Approach to Youth Ministry" will be introduced by the pastor, the Rev. Susan Morrison, and the youth will decide on programs and activities for the 1988-'89 season.

St. A's Hosts Workshop

St. Augustine Church will host a training workshop for people interested in becoming resources on substance abuse in their parishes.

Parishioners Assistance on Substance Abuse, the ministry program set up by Life Resources Inc., is sponsoring the Andover workshop. Mary F. White, M.Ed., Life Resources education coordinator, will lead the sessions at St. Augustine's on Essex Street on Oct. 5, 12, 19 and 25 from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Life Resources, a private, non-profit corporation under the archdiocese of Boston, provides educational programs on substance abuse, youth development and related issues.

According to its staff, the PASA program was established to train parishioners to be resource people in their respective parishes and to network with local resources in their communities. The training sessions will offer guidance in establishing awareness activities on use, abuse and addiction, they said.

Included in the workshops will be information on how families are affected, enabling, intervention and recovery.

The program is already underway in 11 parishes in the archdiocese and has been well-received in both urban and suburban areas.

The Rev. C. Melvin Surette is director of Life Resources. Registration for the October workshop may be made by contacting the headquarters at 25 Union St., Boston, 02108.

Christ Church Has 'Sign Up' Day

Sunday is "sign up Sunday" at Christ Church. Representatives of various committees, commissions and guilds will be at tables in the church's parish hall between the 9 and 11:15 a.m. services to answer questions about their organizations' work.

Trends in Kitchen and Bath Design

by Kevin Hennessey and Sean Walsh

EXPANDING INTERESTS

Suffering from kitchen cramps? The first place to look for additional space is in the rooms adjacent to the kitchen. This affords the opportunity to completely rearrange the kitchen, to add more storage, more features, and even more appliances. Next, a list should be made that includes all the things that the kitchen should have and/or perform. List them in order of importance because the next step is one of the toughest factors in any remodeling: space allocation. Even though more square footage has been added in the annexation, it cannot be known for sure if the dream kitchen will fit until the details have been worked out on graph paper. At this point, a contractor or designer is instrumental for success.

A custom designed kitchen by VARIATIONS IN WOOD, INC. is convenient, efficient, comfortable and an eye pleasing experience. # Schools To Hire New Teacher

Parents Tell Committee Sanborn Third-Grade Classes Too Big

By Frank Messina

As far as the parents of Sanborn Elementary School third-graders were concerned, the math was simple.

School board policy, which sets a level of 23 students to one teacher, was fine. But class sizes of 27:1, 30:1 or even 32:1 for Sanborn third-graders are completely unacceptable, a group of about 20 angry parents told the school board Tuesday night.

After listening to both parents and district administrators, who recommended three classrooms for 75 students plus eight special education children, the board voted 5-0 to hire another teacher to open an additional class.

The problems for administrators were twofold. First, eight students with learning disabilities were to be added to third-grade classes under a new "mainstreaming" program. Also, reluctant to separate special education students, the district kept the group together for social studies and science classes, raising the teacher-pupil ratio in those rooms to 32:1. Some special education students were split off to math classes pending progress evaluation, at least temporarily increasing ratios there to 27:1 and 30:1.

To alleviate overcrowding, administrators asked for additional classroom aides. "It is our recommendation that we increase aide time, monitor (the classrooms) during the first quarter and report back to you," said Lois Haslam, assistant superintendent of curriculum.

With teacher aides present, both Haslam and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kenneth Seifert said the classrooms would be under the board's 23:1 ratio policy.

The reaction from parents was strong and swift. Add another teacher, another classroom to lower the student-teacher ratio, they implored the board.

"We are not asking for something totally outrageous," said Maria Bartlett. "Classrooms of 18, 19 students, that sounds low, but when you look at the alternatives, there is no alternative as far as we can see."

"Twenty-seven to 30 children is unacceptable."

An aide may help a 32:1 ratio class, said Laura Collins, "but isn't that just too many people to fit into that (size) room?" she asked.

"We have a responsibility to succeed" in educating children, said Marge Bradshaw. "You could destroy children if you don't give them an environment to succeed."

After listening to Sanborn parents, the board came to a quick decision.

"I think we should adhere to the 23:1 policy and add a fourth section (class)," said board member Susan Poore.

Board member Margo Tilghman agreed, adding that "the bottom line is we want to implement mainstreaming under the best circumstances possible."

When Chairman Donald Robb announced the unanimous vote approving the additional teacher, an audible sigh of relief came from the audience, many calling out thanks to the board.

Seifert indicated the new teacher would be hired in about one week.

Court Reverses Planners' Vote

The Massachusetts Land Court overturned a town planning board decision that would have prevented a local church from building on land in West Andover.

Last week, the court found that a 1975 board vote limiting an 11-acre parcel off Chandler Road to one single-family residence was illegal.

This spring, the current board had upheld the 1975 decision, agreeing that wetlands in and around the site could be endangered by construction of the church and a Bible school also planned for the property by the New England Bible Church.

With the land located at busy Chandler Road near Route 495, the board members were also concerned about traffic and safety issues.

Reginald Marden, a lawyer for the New England Bible Church, denied that traffic safety was a problem, arguing that the church's hours were limited to off-rush hours.

After the denial, New England Bible filed a lawsuit against Andover, parish members claiming a church had the freedom to build anywhere in town, regardless of zoning.

However, the court ruled solely on the legality of the 1975 planning board decision.

The New England Bible Church must now continue through the permit process.

The church also made news recently when church leaders called for the parish to protest the opening of The Last Temptation of Christ at the Showcase Cinemas in Lawrence.

Primary Voter Turnout Low

In one of the lowest voter turnouts in state election history, a total of 1,007 Andover voters participated in the state primary election last Thursday.

Of the total, 650 were Democrats and 357 cast ballots on the Republican side.

State Rep. Susan Tucker of Andover, running unopposed for another two-year term, was the top vote getter in the primary with 533 votes.

On the Democrat side, Gerald Grasso, Andover High teacher, was given 376 votes in his bid for nomination for a seat on the County Commission. Grasso finished fifth overall throughout the county with Lawrence's Marguerite Kane being the successful candidate in that race.

On the Republican side, William Melahn, Andover attorney, received 333 votes in his bid for nomination to oppose State Sen. Patricia McGovern in the November final election.

Friendly Ice Cream is back by popular demand on Thursday, Sept. 29, to present an ice cream sundae party. Entertainment will be provided by Chet Harnden and his one-man band. The fun begins at 1 p.m. at the senior center and continues through 3 p.m. Tickets cost $2 for all participants age 60 and older.

Free flour is available to Andover residents ages 60 and older every Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. while supplies last. Residents who received flour on September 19 are eligible to receive additional flour.

Many residents called to complain that they did not receive cheese on September 10. Cheese was not available for distribution to any of the Greater Lawrence Community Action sites. The Andover Council on Aging will distribute any commodities made available through Community Action. Federal cutbacks in surplus cheese have made this commodity unavailable. If you would like to turn your complaints to positive action, write to your U.S. Con-

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 22, 1988

Hit 'Em Again

Well, Andover's administrative structure has resolved another difficult financial issue.

Faced with the problem of increased costs to maintain the town's sewer system, due to problems at the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District Plant, selectmen this week reluctantly did what they always do to solve such problems, call upon the taxpayers to bear the burden.

The board, acting as the town's sewer commissioners, already had increased the sewer rates by 25 per cent in May.

But, now the town is faced with further cost increases at the GLSD, where the state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) has shut down incinerators which used to burn sludge from the plant.

Compelled to haul the sludge to a Fall River location, the GLSD will pass these costs on to the participating communities which are Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Salem, N.H.

Andover has become the first to act on the financial plight.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony, in recommending the increase to selectmen Monday night, noted that while other communities will probably wait until the cost is definite, by approving the increase now, the town will be in a position to pay the added costs which are sure to be forthcoming.

There has been no mention of the fact that, indeed, there could be some funds in the free cash account to assist the taxpayers of Andover in overcoming this unforeseen expenditure.

Neither has there been any mention of the fact that by collecting these funds now and putting them in an interest-bearing account, there will be some cash available somewhere along the line come next year when annual budget planning gets underway.

No, it is simply the typical Andover way of responding to a financial problem.

And, simple is the proper word.

The best way to respond to any problem dealing with town finances is not to be creative, just place the burden on those who are privileged to live here.

Whether it be through the process of user fees, permit cost increases, water rate hikes, or whatever, the easiest solution to the problem is go to the taxpayers.

A booklet arrived this week from a state agency outlining the various methods which have been used by some municipalities to overcome the constraints imposed by the adoption of Proposition 2½ several years ago, with the most prominent being to either ask for an override at town meeting in the case of towns, to council action in the case of cities.

Here in Andover, there has been no necessity to petition for an override, through the administrative genius of applying the various alternative taxing methods of fees which has been most popular.

This current move of increasing sewer assessments is a bit much, resulting as it does in a total 25 per cent increase within a six-month period.

The town is told that the overall cost is not that much, reducing the information to a basic rate. What is not said is the total cost over a quarterly or annual period.

In actuality, Andover residents should be getting rather tired and fed up with the annual tax contribution, coupled with the added tack-ons as devised by our administrators.

The time seems ripe for some creative management to cope with the increased costs of municipal operation, rather than simply looking at a financial problem and passing it on to those who only want to live a comfortable, affordable life in their chosen community.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

Sitting on the desk the other morning was a donation of a jar of water from an anonymous Andover resident, asking that it be examined and to see if something couldn't be done about the condition.

Now it is true that the water contained some sediment.

But what the anonymous donor was unaware of, is that this writer is from North Andover.

First reaction to seeing the little jug was to seek an ice cube and drink because the purity of appearance as compared to what's coming through the pipes in the next door community is like black and white, literally.

The Andover sample was taken from a location a short distance from the Townsman office.

There are areas of town where water problems prevail due to the age of pipes which are badly in need of replacement and awaiting funds to accomplish the task.

But, for the most part, Andover water looks pretty good to a person who has been dealing with foul appearing and tasting liquid pumped through North Andover pipes.

The town is in the process of building a water treatment plant which is supposed to be a cure-all. But that's not on line until December 1989 and we are all familiar with contractor's timetables.

It is of such things that has made Poland Springs and similar firms look upon the town as a bonus stop.

***

It was nice to see Andover's selectmen back in session this week.

The board managed to take most of the summer off, which seems to be becoming modern practice.

In June, the board met briefly before the start of the special town meeting, then proceeded to go through the summer weeks meeting only two or three times.

A year or so ago they did even better, not meeting at all during the summer.

Suppose if they had sent a card during the vacation period would feel somewhat better, but one does have to wonder if anyone's watching the store in that period from when the fireworks are shot off on the Fourth until Labor Day.

***

Recommend everyone planning to watch the Presidential debate Sunday night get ample rest prior to the 90-minute performance.

Neither candidate is awe-inspiring and the evening hour for presentation could easily lead to short naps.

Artists Selected For Lawrence Park

Four artists have been selected to design and fabricate sculptural and environmental elements for Merrimack Riverfront Park, a new $6.5 million state park which will be located in Lawrence.

The artists, selected by a panel of arts professionals based on a review of their past work, are New Hampshire sculptor Malcolm Cochran and New York sculptors Jackie Ferrara, James Ford and Mary Ann Unger.

Working in collaboration with the Cambridge landscape architectural firm of Moriece & Gary, Inc., the artists will design park gateways, a scenic overlook pavilion, footbridges and other park amenities. The project is being coordinated by Boston's UrbanArts, Inc., a non-profit organization that designs and implements programs which integrate the arts into public spaces.

The park will also include a community boating facility, new swimming area, tennis and basketball courts and a children's playground.

The new one-and-one-half mile park is funded by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Management and is expected to be completed in 1990.

Cochran has exhibited his work throughout the eastern United States. His sculptures are included in several New England museum collections and have been permanently installed in parks in Georgia, New York and Vermont. He will design entrance gates to the new park.

Ferrara has exhibited her work throughout the United States and in Europe. Her sculptures are included in collections at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, the Indianapolis Museum of Art, the National Collection of Fine Art in Washington, D.C., and New York's Guggenheim Museum, Metropolitan Museum of Art and Museum of Modern Art. She has also created outdoor sculptures for plazas and parks in Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Missouri, New York and Ohio. She will work with Moriece & Gary, Inc. to design a new use for a former swimming pool and bathhouse in the Riley Park section of the park.

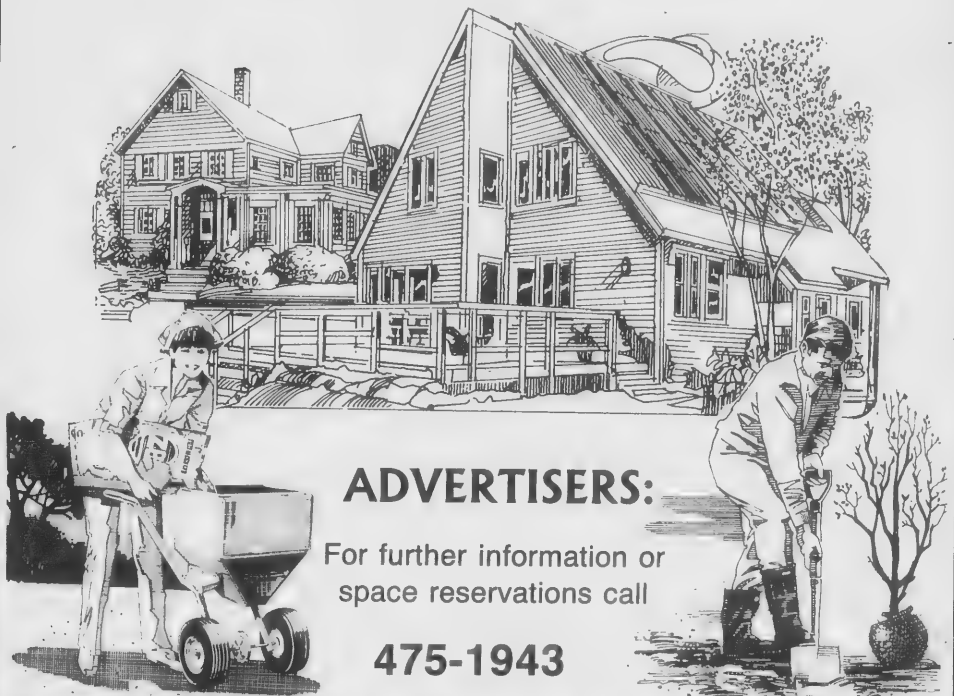

Ford, who will design footbridges and the boardwalk which will run through a scenic wetland area of the park, has exhibited his sculptures throughout the United States and in northern Europe. His artworks are included in several corporate and public collections, including those of AT&T, Sony Corp., Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery, La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art and the University of California.

Sculptures by Unger have been permanently installed in private parks in Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and are included in several corporate and public collections in the eastern United States. She will create a pavilion-like sculpture for a scenic overlook which stands 70 feet above the Merrimack River.

SPORTING LIFE

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 22, 1988

League President Bill Novelline says a few words about his team.

Dan Hansberry signs a get well card for Dennis Gola, a Florida disc jockey who broadcast the Little League games from Pennsylvania. Gola was injured when he arrived at his Florida home during a robbery and is recovering in a hospital.

Coach Red Harris holds up a gift for fellow coach Jim Arnold during Monday night's team dinner. Arnold is retiring from the league this year.

Champs Get Celebrity Status

By Rick Harrison

About the only thing the Andover National Little League All-Stars have yet to do is make a movie.

But, the way things are progressing for this town's most notable celebrities (move over Jay Leno, Robert Urich and Bill Buckner), don't bet against seeing them on the silver screen in the near future.

This past Monday night the Nationals and their coaches, Jim Arnold, Red Harris and John Murphy, completed an incredible 10-day stretch of activities that may have been more exciting than their impressive run to the World Series in Williamsport.

The crowded itinerary rivaled that of any foreign dignitary or Pope or who ever visited this country, not to mention current presidential candidates Dukakis and Bush.

The Nationals were guests of honor at the Boston College-Cincinnati football game, had a horse race at Rockingham Park named after them, spent close to an hour on the field with the pennant-bound Boston Red Sox prior to a game with the Baltimore Orioles at Fenway Park, were introduced to 50,000 fans and a national television audience before the New England Patriots-Buffalo Bills contest last Sunday at Sullivan Stadium, were treated to a banquet at Backstreet Monday evening, and received some gorgeous awards at the Andover Selectman's meeting after the banquet.

And it ain't over yet, folks.

Coaches Arnold, Harris and Murphy will be featured guests at the weekly Bosox Luncheon Sept. 27, and next month the team will gather at the Andover Marriott for a huge gala "Breakup Dinner."

The festivities for the sixth best Little League team in the universe began Saturday, Sept. 10 when their names were posted on the scoreboard at Boston College's Alumni Field during the Eagles' 41-7 rout of Cincinnati.

This particular piece of recognition was especially significant to coach Red Harris, a former BC star quarterback who set many school records later surpassed by Doug Flutie.

Things began to heat up the following afternoon at Rockingham Park in Salem, N.H., site of the 1988 "Andover National Little League Sweepstakes Race."

"It was the third race on the program," recalled Arnold, "and after it was over we went to the winner's circle to present the trophy."

"They also gave us an award," added Arnold. "I never thought I'd own a trophy with a horse on it."

The day at Rock was the brainchild of North Salem resident Wayne Muray, who had never met any of the Andover players or coaches before.

"I guess he's always been involved with kids and baseball," explained Arnold. "He got all caught up in it (tournament) and thought our kids deserved something extra."

"He was in the area when the Dover (N.H.) team went to the Series, and when another southern New Hampshire Senior League team made it to the finals. He felt those teams got shortchanged and wanted to make sure our kids didn't."

Sox and Pats

What happened at the Red Sox game was a complete surprise to Arnold and the rest of the All-Star contingent.

"When we went there I just expected we'd have some good seats near the dugout to watch the game," said Arnold. "I knew I was throwing out the first ball, but I thought it would be a little toss from the stands."

What actually transpired was a dream-come-true for any 12-year-old baseball player, along with a 27-year-old manager who like all of us is a kid at heart.

"We went on the field at 6:45 and stayed there for almost 45 minutes, right up until gametime," said Arnold. "They let us mingle with the players, go into the dugout, and then they brought everyone to the mound and let all the kids and their parents take pictures."

"They (PA man Sherm Feller) announced exactly who we were, but I feel most of the (33,000) people there were already aware of it. The scoreboard camera had shots of the players walking around the whole time we were out there."

"They went through the whole litany of things we'd done, and when the announcer finished the crowd reaction was very positive. It wasn't just a 'golf clap' (polite applause). Those people let the kids know how they felt about 'em."

And then, with the fully-uniformed players in a semi-circle around the Fenway Park pitcher's mound, Arnold wound up and threw the first ball to Sox catcher Rich Gedman.

Was it a strike?

"There is still an argument raging about that," laughed Arnold, "but it looked pretty close to me."

The three Red Sox players who drew the most attention from the Nationals were Mike Greenwell, Wade Boggs and Jody Reed.

"Greenwell is the Andover National Little League team's idol," said Arnold. "And I guess that figures."

It figures because Greenwell and the Nationals have much in common. Both "Gator" and the All-Stars are young, aggressive and approach the game in a businesslike manner.

"We told all the kids before we went on the field not to shove pieces of paper in front of the Red Sox players (for autographs)," explained Arnold. "If they were willing to sign, fine. Otherwise don't press it."

"When they first saw Greenwell he was about to run some sprints. He was kind of short with them, telling them he didn't want to be bothered then. But when he came in from running he stopped, took the time to explain to them he was a little uptight and pre-occupied because the Yankees were coming to town the next night. Then he signed autographs for every kid."

"It wasn't something he really had to do, but I think it showed what kind of person he is. It meant a lot to the kids."

"Of course, that was the night he went out and hit for the cycle (single, double, triple and homerun)," added Arnold. "That was really exciting for our players."

As for Wade Boggs, he also pulled a Jekyll and Hyde on the Eastern Regional champs.

"Our kids kind of crept up to Boggs," said Arnold. "He can be a standoffish guy, and it's obvious that almost everybody stays away from him before a game. He also had a look on his face that said 'don't come near me.'"

"But when the kids got near him Boggs looked at them, they looked at him, and then he smiled. After that he was great, signing autographs for everyone."

The Nationals' manager also admitted that "milling around the Red Sox dugout and talking to the players was the thrill of a lifetime for me."

The Nationals didn't know what to expect at Sunday's Patriots game either. What they got was far beyond their wildest imaginations.

"We had the kids in uniform once again, just in case something was planned," said Arnold.

"They led us right down one of the ramps and onto the field just before the game. Each kid and coach then ran to the 50 yard line and introduced himself."

"Just like at Fenway — the crowd was pretty rowdy and really into what was going on," continued Arnold. "The fans were great. They recognized us instantaneously. We never expected that kind of reaction."

"Of course Murph couldn't make it all the way to the 50 without stopping to rest," added Arnold.

Dinner, etc.

Monday's dinner at Backstreet was hosted by new owner Alan Shulman, the players, coaches and parents treated to a roast beef dinner on the house.

Then it was off to the Doherty Middle School Auditorium where the select-men made their contribution.

"The plaques they presented each kid were really gorgeous," said Arnold. "They're the best awards we've received. Each had a color picture of the player and a list of every game result in the tournament."

Arnold, who was quoted in a recent issue of Sports Illustrated, also revealed that he received that bit of publicity after "cornering the writer (Austin Murphy) and putting a gun to his head."

"He's a very bright guy, and it turns out he's also a big hockey fan so we had a lot to talk about. I knew all week that he was around the park (in Williamsport), and talking with him was a big kick for me."

Despite all the accolades thrown their way the past two weeks, heaped upon them after tons of praise throughout the actual tournament, the Andover Nationals remain their same modest, humble, unassuming selves.

"The kids don't even wear their (All-Star) jackets to school, and that's the way we (coaches) want it," said Arnold.

"It's already been said many times, but I have to repeat that these kids have been incredibly good through it all. There hasn't been one problem."

"From the beginning Red, Murph and I laid down the law. We kept reminding them the town and their parents were bending over backwards just so they could play a few games this summer. And they've respected that idea."

"You can't surprise them anymore. Not after what happened at the Red Sox and Patriots games."

"It's not a group about which you can tell a bunch of funny anecdotes, but maybe one glimpse into their character as a team was revealed after all this fancy stuff at the Patriots' game."

"Five minutes after it was over, while the game was going on, they were over at the side of the stands throwing their own football around," said Arnold.

Once again the names of the Andover National All-Stars are Toby Guzowski, Rick Saggese, Paul Allard, Brian Flanagan, Todd Harris, Pat Walsh, Danny Hansberry, Ryan Moynihan, Matt Marvin, Peter Daniels, Ricky Crispo, Matt Wolcott, Matt Chapin.

The forthcoming Breakup Dinner at the Marriott is expected to be open to the public, and anyone wishing further details should contact Andover Little League president Bill Novelline.

Swimmers Open With Win

The Andover High School varisty swim team opened the 1988 season with a 114-58 victory over Westford last Thursday.

Led by triple winners Pam Boucher and Laura Ghirardini, AHS opened with a first in the medley relay featuring Erika Kuduiko, Kate Robb, Tracey Pool and Boucher.

Senior co-captain Ghirardini captured the 200-yard freestyle with Kristen Hubbel a close second while sophomore Amy Fantini pulled from last place into fourth on the last length.

Suduiko placed second with Brynn McGovern third and Ellen Cohen fourth in the 200-yard individual medley.

Senior co-captain Lisa Fox won the 50 free with Eliza Tilghaman third and Monica Davis fourth. Showing great promise, the AHS divers were paced by Mia Kearins in first, Jill Ippolito third and Kasie Kearins fourth.

Boucher won her first individual event in the 100-yard butterfly with Robb third and Jen Merenda fifth.

Ghirardini took her second win in the 100 free leading the first Andover sweep of the meet with Pool second and freshman Amy Hart third.

The 500 free was Boucher's third win and Andover's second sweep as Fox was second and Eszter Vajda third.

Suduiko led the 100-yard backstroke with Allyson Bates second and Katie Lemanna third.

Robb was first in the 100-yard breaststroke with McGovern third.

Women & Custody

If you are separated from your husband and are concerned that your husband may intend to fight you for custody of your children, you may be hesitant to date, socialize or pursue a career because you are afraid you will lose your children if you do. If you have been the primary caretaker of your children before or since the separation, the standard which a Court will apply to determine which parent shall be awarded custody—the best interest of the children—does not necessarily require you to make drastic changes in your life-style or your career.

Warrior Loss An Emotional One

By Rick Harrison

The two close friends, respected colleagues and championship coaches stood near midfield in the aftermath of their season opening high school football game.

Chelmsford had just unleashed a devastating 410-yard ground attack to key a 35-0 triumph over Andover, and rival coaches Dick Collins and Tom Caito had somehow traded emotional roles.

Caito, who normally would have been ecstatic over his defending Super Bowl champions' performance, was weeping openly.

Collins, who has seen enough from both sides to take almost everything in stride, initiated a quick embrace and tried to console a man who openly idolizes him.

"I'm sorry, Dick. I never meant for this to happen," said Caito. "This hurts. It really hurts."

"Don't worry about it," responded Collins. "You've got a heckuva football team there. We'll bounce back."

With that the veteran AHS coach noted that "we were beaten by a better team tonight. And Tom Caito's a fine gentleman. That's really all I can say."

As Collins and his troops left the field Caito was still agonizing over the one-sidedness of the final score.

"I love that man and my dream is still that we'll be coaching together some day," said Caito. "He's taught me so much about this game, and I wish with all my heart we didn't have to play each other every year."

The friendship between Caito and Collins goes all the way back to their days in Providence, R.I., and last December when Chelmsford qualified for the Super Bowl Collins was an invited guest and unofficial assistant coach for the Lions that day.

Collins, of course, has directed three Bowl teams himself while Caito has taken two Chelmsford clubs and a pair of Holliston teams to Bay State Bowls.

Between them the pair have close to 300 victories, but last Friday night is one Caito had very mixed emotions about.

Haverhill Tomorrow

The Golden Warriors get their chance to square the record at 1-1 tomorrow night, opening their home schedule with a 7 p.m. game against Haverhill at Lovely Field.

The Hillies dropped a tough 21-20 decision to Lowell last Saturday, failing to convert a two-point pass following their final touchdown with less than one minute to play in the game.

This week Andover must contend with a tough passing combination in quarterback Brendan Skafas and wide receiver Mike Favalora.

Skafas completed 12-of-25 aerials for 184 yards and two touchdowns in the Lowell contest, while Favalora snagged seven passes for 139 yards and both TDs (25 and 15-yards).

Although running back Jeff DiBurro was smothered by Lowell (23 yards in 12 carries), he is another potential threat for Haverhill.

Chelmsford Game

The Lions had three players rush for better than 100 yards each, and they held Andover to just 24 yards on the ground and six first downs in last Friday night's opener.

The Golden Warriors only crossed midfield twice as they ran headlong into what may be the league and state's strongest Division 2 team for the second consecutive year.

AHS began the game in encouraging fashion, senior defensive tackle Dan Ferris recovering a fumble by

Warrior

Chelmsford quarterback Tom Caito Jr. on the Lions' first series. Steve Surette, who completed 9-of-13 passes for 92 yards, hit Junior end Brian Donnelan with an 11-yarder as the Warriors drove to midfield on their opening possession.

Chris McAnally also ripped off a 12-yard run, but the march stalled after Dave Mills and Mark Altenweg of CHS threw Andover runners for losses on consecutive plays.

The Lions took Donnelan's ensuing 43-yard punt and moved 84 yards in just three plays for their first touchdown.

Matt Miner, who led all rushers with 143 yards in 13 carries, took a last-second pitchout from Caito and sprinted 65 yards down the right sideline for the touchdown. Brian Veth then added the first of his five consecutive perfect placements to make it 7-0.

"Three guys were hanging on me and I barely got the ball away," said Caito after the game. "Then Matt made a great run."

Andover's deepest penetration came on its next series, McAnally returning the kickoff 20 yards and Surette firing a 31-yard bomb to junior flanker John Thompson at the Lions' 33 yard line.

Junior Dave Tucker, one of nine different AHS ballcarriers in the game, bulled for five yards to the Chelmsford 28.

But a four-yard loss on the next play, an incomplete pass, and a five-yard run by junior halfback Jeff Ring forced the Warriors to surrender on downs at the Chelmsford 27.

Tom Benanchietti halted the Lions' next drive with a fumble recovery near midfield, but Altenweg returned the favor on the next play.

Caito followed with a 45-yard TD run highlighted by a great inside cut, and Veth's kick made it 14-0.

Late in the first half Chelmsford drove 49 yards for its third touchdown, an eight-yard run by Miner who picked up 46 of those yards during the march.

Steve Surette made an excellent play on the final play of the half, batting down a pass in the endzone to prevent another CHS score.

Mercuri Rises

Mike "Diesel" Mercuri, the Lions' 195-pound fullback who finished with 116 yards in 10 carries, dominated the third period with touchdown runs of eight and 59 yards.

His eight-yard scamper capped a nine-play, 64-yard trek on the first possession of the second half.

His 59-yard explosion occurred just two minutes later, as he took a pitchout around the right side and broke two tackles to polish off a quick three-play, 74-yard drive.

Andover's final series produced a few highlights.

Surette completed an 18-yard pass to Thompson, junior backup quarterback Pat Finn hit Thompson with a 14-yard aerial, and reserve signalcaller Kurt Brucato pitched a seven-yard completion to Pat Duffy.

Statistics

Andover had three impressive individual statistics.

Chris McAnally returned four kickoffs for 70 yards, a 17.5 average, Dave Blank returned two kickoffs for 48 yards (24.0 average), and John Thompson caught seven passes for 78 yards.

Good Starts For Fall Sports

By Rick Harrison

The majority of fall athletic teams at Andover High are off to flying starts.

Regular season play started last week for the soccer, field hockey, volleyball, girls' cross country, swim and golf teams.

The defending state co-champion girls' soccer team entered this week at 2-0-0, having posted consecutive shutouts over Tewksbury (6-0) and Chelmsford (3-0) to grab the early lead in the Merrimack Valley Conference.

The boys' soccer team, winner of six MVC titles in the past seven years, stood 1-0-1 after battling to a scoreless tie with Chelmsford and blasting Lawrence High 7-1.

The revitalized volleyball team is 2-0 following a pair of 2-0 sweeps over Lawrence and Lowell High.

Field hockey is off to its fastest start in several years, standing 2-1-0 through Monday afternoon play. The Lady Warriors blanked Haverhill, 2-0, dropped a tough 2-1 last-minute decision to Chelmsford, and rebounded with a 3-1 triumph over Methuen on Monday.

The girls' cross country crew raced to an impressive 21-40 non-league triumph over Presentation of Mary Academy (Methuen).

The swim team won its first two dual meets and the golf team was an easy victor in its opening match.

more dangerous than ours," said coach Dave Amundsen. "Everyone played well for us, but we really didn't get a lot of quality shots on their goaltender."

Andover finished with a wide 28-10 shooting edge, but the more testing shots were directed at AHS senior goalie Eric Hammond who made seven tough saves.

Standouts for the Warriors included senior midfielder Eric Jones, junior full-back Chuck Jessico, and senior forward Matt Pothier who is nursing a toe injury.

Fall Sports

Chelmsford followed this game with a convincing 4-1 win over traditional MVC powerhouse Billerica.

"They're a solid team," noted Amundsen, "and that's good for the league. We want it to be as competitive as possible."

Unfortunately Lawrence appears to be less than competitive again this fall, the Golden Warriors having no trouble in their 7-1 romp at O'Neil Playground.

The lone Lancers' goal, in fact, was accidentally kicked in by an Andover player.

"One of the best shots of the day," stated Amundsen. "Sailed right over our goalie's head. But that's OK. These things happen."

Chris Merrill got the winners off and running with a pair of quick goals in the opening two minutes of the game.

Capt. Peter Kannam later pocketed two goals, one a direct kick, and senior wing Scott Clementi added two goals including a penalty shot.

Brad Cronin wrapped up the offense with a goal, while junior midfielder John Mattola contributed two assists, Kannam one and Clementi one.

Eric Hammond and junior Mike Sintros split the goaltending for Andover, making three saves apiece.

Playing well were freshman center-halfback Brian Jones, older brother Eric Jones, center-fullback Chuck Jessico and junior defender Dave Carriere.

AHS led 3-1 at halftime and then pumped home four goals in the final 40 minutes.

The Warriors hosted Lowell last Tuesday night, entertain Lawrence Central under the lights at Lovely Field tonight (7 p.m.), and travel to Billerica for a game Saturday morning (10 a.m.).

Girls' Soccer

The defending state co-champs led 2-0 at halftime and then erupted to score four goals in the second half in the 6-0 romp over Tewksbury.

Junior striker Suzanne Gianelly led the attack with two goals and one assist, junior halfback Kathy Doran added one goal, two assists, and other markswomen were sophomore strikers Anne Murnane, Jen Butt and junior wing-fullback Brenna Cronin.

Juniors Michelle DeStefano and Jodi Saunders passed out assists, as did Murnane and Butt.

Junior goalie Nicole Ricci made four saves en route to the first of her two season-opening shutouts, while defensive standouts included senior stopper-back and Co-Capt. Krissy Carothers and junior sweeperback Andrea Duffy.

"It really was a surprise to beat them by such a large margin," said AHS coach Dick Loschi. "I thought they'd press us a little harder."

"We played very well, but I think Tewksbury's younger players were a little nervous."

"We moved the ball well and controlled the middle of the field," added Loschi. "That's one of our prime objectives this season."

In the 3-0 triumph over Chelmsford the Lady Warriors weathered both the Lions' attack and a blackout at the CHS field.

"The lights went out in the first half and we had to delay the game for about 15 minutes," explained Loschi.

It didn't affect Andover's play, however, as the defending state co-champs continued on to victory.

Senior striker and Co-Capt. Kerry Fitzpatrick blasted a 25-foot shot home four minutes into the contest, assist to senior halfback Kathleen Radulski.

Sophomore striker Lisa Allen made it 2-0 at 32:30 of the first half, Kathy Doran setting up Allen's initial goal of the season.

Jen Butt wrapped up the offense at 25:00 of the second half, Allen and Anne Murnane helping out.

Nicole Ricci turned aside five shots for her second shutout, and Chelmsford goaltender Jennifer Kay kept it close with 14 stops.

Playing well for AHS were Andrea Duffy, Jodi Saunders and junior full-back Lisa Berberian.

"Chelmsford pressed us coming down the middle of the field," said coach Loschi, "and it took a short passing game by us to beat them. They were very physical and pretty quick."

The AHS girls traveled to Billerica last Tuesday and were scheduled to host Dracut today.

DeLorean auto in front of North Andover Auto Body

In the unfortunate occurrence of an auto accident, one phone call to North Andover Auto Body will take care of all your needs. Owner David White, and wife Carole and a staff of eight qualified auto body technicians are knowledgeable and have the resources to take care of the situation from the initial towing to restoring the vehicle to perfect running condition. They have the experience and know-how it takes to handle the problems that arise after an automobile accident. They will see that the car is towed to its shop and have their own state-licensed appraiser make a fair and accurate estimate of the damage. Then White's crew of specialists takes over and restores the car to like-new condition. They can handle anything from minor scrapes to major overhauls. They will align any frame or unitized body, including many previously thought to be beyond repair, with their state of the art frame machine. North Andover Auto Body understands the needs of their customers. The shop's reputation has been built on quality workmanship and almost thirty years of customer satisfaction. They are equipped to rebuild all types of cars, foreign or domestic, from modest economy models to Rolls Royces.

North Andover Auto Body is located at 374 Osgood Street, North Andover (next to the North Andover High School). Hours are Monday through Friday from 7:00 to 5:00 and Saturdays from 8:00 to noon. Telephone: 683-6000

But the 5,911 voters who turned out under perfect weather conditions, chose Avi Nelson as the Republican nominee for U.S. Senate and Gov. Michael Dukakis for a return to office, while the majority of the state selected their opponents, Sen. Edward W. Brooke and former Massport Director Edward J. Goalie Lee Dziadosz had another excellent game with 11 saves, while other AHS standouts were midfielder Lisa Campbell and the defensive corps of Andrea Napolitano, Julie Enos, Amy Heislein and Sarah Little.

Andover hosts perennial powerhouse Wilmington tomorrow.

Volleyball

Andover pulled out a pair of close games to sweep Lawrence, edging the Lancers 15-12 and 16-14.

Junior Grace Park was outstanding as a setter, senior Kristen Sullivan starred defensively with numerous blocks and stops at the net, and senior Julie Salazar paced the offense with her spiking and accurate serving.

"We led all the way in the first game," said first-year coach George Sullivan. "In game two we came from a 12-7 deficit. Grace Park turned it around by scoring on three straight serves, and both Salazar and Sullivan had some key blocks. We tied it 14-14, won the serve back and closed it out.

Laura Hebeisen also played a solid all-around game on defense.

The Lawrence JVs won, 2-1, despite excellent serving and defense by the Warriors' Kristin Johnson, Melissa Salazar and Kim Daley.

The 2-0 win over Lowell was somewhat easier, Andover cruising 15-2 in the first game and 15-8 in the second.

Kristen Sullivan topped the effort on defense, Grace Park did a super job of setting, and Julie Salazar produced six clean kills with her spiking prowess.

"The second game was close for the first five or six points," said coach Sullivan. "Then we started to pull away and Lowell never seemed to get its rhythm."

Sophomore Nicole Thompson also helped turn the tide and break Lowell's back with six straight points off her serve in game two.

AHS faced Methuen earlier this week and journeys to Tewksbury tomorrow afternoon.

Cross Country

The Andover girls didn't have the individual race winner, but managed to grab six of the top 10 places en route to the 21-40 decision over non-league PMA-Methuen.

Allison Burke of PMA placed first over the 2.9 mile Andover course, but the next four finishers were Golden Warrior harriers Diane Hinchey, junior Michelle Toth, junior Katie Boness and Jeannie Kenney.

Sophomore Heather McNamara and Jen Leitch also finished among the top 10.

The Andover boys and girls' teams have two consecutive rugged tests. They faced Lowell in their MVC openers yesterday and now get ready for next Wednesday's meets at Chelmsford.

ON RECEIVING AN OFFER

Once you put your house up for sale, you have to promise to yourself that you won't waver when the right offer comes. If it's a fair one - jump on it! The offering price should come pretty close to the asking price if you've priced your property realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one - the only kind that has any real significance and on which you can depend.

Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accompanied by a good-size check depending on the selling price, never accept a verbal promise and take your property off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about this situation arising if the sale of your property is in the hands of our agency.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pouchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Police Await Accreditation

A team of assessors will be at the Andover Police Department next month to see if the department is up to its par.

Police Chief James F. Johnson said the assessors, who are from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc., will arrive Oct. 15 to examine all aspects of the department's policies and procedures, management, operations and support services.

Verification by the team that the police department meets the commission's state-of-the-art standards is part of a voluntary process to gain accreditation, nationwide recognition of law enforcement professional excellence, Johnson said.

As part of the on-site assessment, the public and agency employees are invited to offer comments on the agency's services and performance at a public information session Monday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall Conference Room, 36 Bartlet St.

Appearances at the session as well as telephone comments are limited to 10 minutes and must address the agency's ability to comply with commission's standards. A copy of the standards is available at the police accreditation office in Town Hall. For further information, call Lt. Donald Mooers, Jr., accreditation program manager for the Andover Police Department.

If you would rather offer written comment, write the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc. at 424B Chain Bridge Road, Fairfax, Va., 22030.

The Andover Police Department has to comply with standards in order to gain accredited status, Johnson said.

He said attainment of accreditation is proof positive to the selectmen and citizens of Andover that the department has achieved both excellence and a level of professionalism that will help set the standard for other police agencies in Massachusetts.

Mooers said the assessment team is composed of law enforcement practitioners from similar, but out-of-state, agencies. The assessors will review written materials, interview individuals and visit offices and other places where compliance can be witnessed. The assessors are Chief Executive Officer George W. O'Connor of Power Development Services Inc. in New York, Cmdr. David T. Nicholson of the Mount Prospect Police Department in Illinois and Deputy Chief Christopher J. Tutko of Manassas Police Department in Virginia.

Once the assessors complete their review, they report back to the full commission, which will then decide if the agency is to be granted accredited status, Mooers said.

Accreditation is for five years, during which time the agency must submit annual reports.

Nixon Attorney To Lecture

Attorney James St. Clair, special counsel to President Richard Nixon during the Watergate hearings, will speak at Northern Essex Community College in the Bentley Library Conference Center on the Haverhill campus on Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by Northern Essex's paralegal studies program, the free lecture will focus on "The Lawyer's Role in Governmental Investigations."

"Attorney St. Clair should present an insider's view of the workings of governmental investigations, which will enhance our understanding of the investigations which are currently in process," said John R. Dimitry, president of the college.

St. Clair studied at the University of Illinois and Harvard Law School. He joined the Boston law firm of Hale and Dorr in 1947 and was named a senior partner in 1956. He resigned from the firm in January, 1974, to accept the appointment as special counsel to Nixon, a position he held until returning to the firm in August of that year.

In court, St. Clair defended against Indian land claims in the states of Maine, Massachusetts, South Carolina, New York and Wisconsin.

A lecturer at Harvard Law School for more than 25 years, he specializes in civil litigation, but has experience in antitrust, high technology, corporate, state, eminent domain, health care, tax and patent law.

The public is invited. A reception will follow.

Elementary Principal Talks About Readiness

Bob Johnson, elementary school principal, consultant and lecturer, will speak to parents and teachers on school readiness and developmental placement at Shore Country Day School in Beverly at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 4 in the Ayer Gymnasium.

Johnson has been helping parents and educators properly place their children in school for nearly two decades.
